

Thank you for your interest in The Broadway Wig Company, where we pride ourselves in the fine art of custom theatrical wig making, and styling.

Custom theatrical wig making (full hand ventilation) has, over the years, become an endangered art form. We are dedicated to the preservation of this art form. Full hand ventilation (or hand tied as it is sometimes called) is a very labor intensive process. It takes as many as 50 to 60 hours, with as many as 4000 hairs used in the creation of one wig. These wigs can cost between $1,800.00 and $3,000.00

As members of the Broadway theatrical design community we do realize that the inherent cost of these good is not for everyone, nor every production. We have scoured the globe to bring you the finest wigs available for theatrical purposes. We have a vast selection of realistic synthetics, human hair as well as 100% European human hair, all available in soft front, lace front, film lace front, mono top and full hand ventilation.

A good quality theatrical wig is an investment in your production and/or personal career, be it onstage or personal appearances, this can denote what type of wig will be best suited for you. We have found that sending design research or performance photo's is a great asset to us, and assists us in creating the perfect wig for you.

Because of our custom design servicing it is difficult to give you an exact price quote, but this break down below should give you an idea.
